Concerned

You are highly sceptical of technology, especially its role in health and fitness. Why would anyone need gadgets and apps to stay healthy when you are a living proof that it's unnecessary? The pervasive data collection associated with modern technology only fuels your concern, making you a vocal advocate for privacy and simplicity.

Privacy advocate

Working for an organization dedicated to advocating for new data laws and protecting citizens' right for privacy, you stand firm against the societal pressure to adopt the latest technologies. Your goal is to ensure everyone has the same opportunity to live a healthy life, free from the invasive reach of tech companies. You resist the allure of technological advancements, remaining committed to your principles.

Lonely

Being a non-user comes with its challenges. Most equipment at the gym is off-limits, complicating your fitness routine. Your favorite activity, skiing, is increasingly viewed as a high-risk, outdated sport lowering life expectancy. Your friends embracing technology often prefer other activities, leaving you feeling isolated. Despite these hurdles, you remain steadfast in your beliefs, advocating for an inclusive world without compromising privacy.
